Assessor Interest Bills set for Hearings Next Week

HB 1140 which allows counties to increase funding for properties acquired through conservation futures will have a hearing before the House Local Government Committee on January 27 at 1:30 p.m. This will increase the conservation futures levy to eleven cents and allow up to twenty-five percent of the total amount collected from the tax levied in the preceding year to be used for the purpose of maintaining and operating any property acquired. Also on January 27 the House Transportation Committee will have a public hearing on HB 1102 which revises the provisions for exchange agreements for environmental mitigations sites and HB 1086 affecting moving mobile homes by mobile home park owners.

January 28 at 1:30 p.m. the House Trade & Economic Development Committee will hold a hearing on the Tax Increment Financing Bill, HB 1281. This bill is also scheduled for executive session on January 30 in the same Committee. The same day on the Senate side, the Senate Government Operations & Elections Committee will hold a 1:30 p.m. hearing on SB 5232 and the corresponding Constitutional amendment SJR 8208 authorizing multiyear excess property tax levies for cemetery districts. The Senate hearing will be broadcast on TVW.

HB 1133 requiring county assessors to submit an annual property tax report to the department of revenue will have a hearing on January 28 at 1:30 p.m. before the House Finance Committee. This bill was also proposed last year but did not pass. At the same hearing House Finance will also hear public comment on HB 1073 modifying the collection of property taxes on land subleased for residential and recreational purposes.

On January 30 at 8:00 a.m. the House Finance Committee will have a marathon senior citizen bill day. The hearing will be broadcast on TVW and the bills being heard include HB 1029, HB 1044, HB 1071 and HB 1116. All these bills provide property tax relief for senior citizens and persons retired because of physical disability.

HB 1250 Determining annual rental rates for the lease of state-owned aquatic lands for qualifying marinas will be heard by the House Agriculture & Natural Resources Committee on January 31 at 8:00 a.m. The Bill sets public marina rents for state owned property. This bill will also be voted on in executive session in the Senate Natural Resources, Energy & Water Committee on January 30. Looks like its got wings.

New WSAC Web Page and Fiscal Bills to Watch
Thanks to board support for technology improvements, WSAC has remodeled its web page. As the session begins we will post bill lists in key areas. The first lists will focus on tax related proposals and bills of general fiscal and administrative concern. Soon our Mandate Watch list will also make its debut on the WSAC home page. Come visit us at www.wacounties.org/wsac/index.htm or if you use the MRSC home page go to links and click on WSAC.

Budget Hearings Display Legislative Dilemma
To no one’s surprise, budget hearings have revealed that Legislators think we need to cut the budget, but they sure wish they could cut something no one cares about. Legislators are all over the map on taxes. Members from both parties have signed on to various tax increase bills. Members from both parties have signed on to tax cut bills. It is a sign of the times that business lobbyists who normally haunt the tax committees are showing up in budget hearings to decry budget cuts that hurt their clients.

The health care industry, in particular is making the case that many providers (hospitals, doctors, clinics, nursing homes, etc) will close or stop serving low income clients if they are not given some financial assistance. Many of them are working on tax proposals to restore their funding.

Higher Education, with it’s strong connections to private and public opinion leaders, is arguing that it will start denying admission to many qualified students. The public schools started their offensive with the arrival of over 20,000 teachers on the capital grounds. Human service providers have been making a compelling case that increased unemployment and reduced charitable contributions will mean that many needy, disabled and elderly folks will be falling between the cracks. You lobbyists are out there too, making the point that counties have been cutting. That basic public safety services are under threat. We also make the case that counties cannot meet state mandates without funding.
SB 5411, Nonpartisan sheriffs, was introduced today and referred to the Senate Committee on Government Operations and Elections Committee. Senators Rasmussen, Hale, Brandland, Hauge, Reardon, Kline, Prentice, Regala and McCaslin have sponsored the bill. County sheriffs have proposed that their position be nonpartisan in the past.

***********

HB 1400, Controlling dangerous dogs, has been sponsored by Representative Bill Grant and has some interesting provisions for sheriffs. A sheriff or his deputy will be required to “kill any dog without an identification tag that is running between August 1 of one year and March 1 of the following year.” Sheriffs are also directed to kill marauding dogs but may spare stray dogs if they determine they are not dangerous. The sheriffs will most likely want to respond to HB 1400. It has not been referred to a committee yet.

SB 5251, Modifying foreign judgments, will be heard next Wednesday, January 29, at 8:00 a.m. in the Senate Judiciary Committee. SB 5251 is a county clerk bill and a WACO priority that will require a judgment summary on each judgment filed from a jurisdiction outside Washington. It appears that this is a position that works very well for most counties, since we have some great health department programs, community action programs, criminal justice programs and, in most counties, emergency affordable housing programs. This is an important issue for counties, and I would appreciate any feedback or other observations you may have prior to our next meeting. I want to make sure that we are on the same page.

Three bills of interest to county clerks will be heard next week:
HB 1236, Providing public access to dependency hearings, is up in House Children and Family Services Committee on Wednesday, January 29, at 8:00 a.m. HB 1236 also states, “except if the judge finds that excluding the public is in the best interest of the child.” Do you favor opening up dependency hearings to the public?
SB 5084, revising the method of jury selection, is in Senate Judiciary Committee on Thursday, January 30, at 8:00 a.m. SB 5084 repeals the expanded jury source list and only registered voters will be called to serve. Do you favor this?
SB 5064, Providing a sole caregiver jury duty exemption, is on the January 30 agenda in Senate Judiciary as well. Yea or nay?

Law Enforcement
SB 5001, Restoring the felony murder statute, moved out of the Senate Judiciary Committee on Thursday. SB 5001 reaffirms a 1975 law allowing felony murder charges to be filed against someone accused of an assault that results in murder. SB 5001 was drafted in response to last year’s Supreme Court that assault can’t be used as the basis for felony murder charges. Felony murder applies to killings that occur in the commission of another crime, such as robbery.

01/16/03 Letter from Ted W. Anderson, Commissioner District 3, Skagit County
As the representative for Washington Counties on the Dependency and Termination Equal Justice Committee, I would like to provide you with an update on our activities. At our last meeting on December 12, 2003, we had an opportunity to review the overall survey we had commissioned regarding service. I serve on the Access to Service Subcommittee, and want to make sure that I am representing all counties in a proper manner.

Specifically, I would like to speak to the draft recommendations to ensure on time services for parents whose children have been abused or neglected or are in foster care. The original recommendation from the committee and the consultant was for the state to develop a coordinated statewide master plan to ensure on time services. Being a county commissioner, this caused me particular heartburn.

I was able to help change the recommendation of the sub-committee to state that counties should be given the opportunity to develop their own plan. In doing so, we would be utilizing services that, for the most part, already exist. Counties with limited services would be able to partner with each other. (In this respect I am thinking about some eastern Washington counties.) It is my belief that counties could accomplish the same thing but not be placed under a state mandate. I also indicated that counties would be expecting some support from the state for our efforts.

It appears that this is a position that works very well for most counties, since we have some great health department programs, community action programs, criminal justice programs and, in most counties, emergency affordable housing programs.

This is an important issue for counties, and I would appreciate any feedback or other observations you may have prior to our next meeting. I want to make sure that we are on the same page.

The Transportation sub-committee adopted the following policy statement at their December 5, 2002, meeting. The Legislative Steering committee also adopted this policy the same day.

CONSOLIDATED LOCAL TRANSPORTATION GRANT BOARD.
WSAC is opposed to the consolidation of the County Road Administration Board (CRAB), Transportation Improvement Board (TIB), and the Freight Mobility Strategic Investment Board (FMSIB) into a single grant funding agency. The proposal focuses on the granting function and ignores technical services and accountability functions that CRAB provides to the counties.

REGIONAL TRANSPORTATION DISTRICTS.
WSAC will seek legislation to expand this authority to the rest of the counties in the state. WSAC will also seek the following amendments to the existing authority: 1. Clarify the bonding and tolling authorities; 2. Permit a local RTID only gas tax; 3. Reduce the local match requirement; and expand the eligibility of what the funds can be used for.

Funding mechanisms to compensate for the future loss of road funds.

GAS TAX DISTRIBUTION.

WSAC is opposed to any redistribution of the existing gas tax revenues.

FUND FLEXIBILITY.

WSAC supports the ability to divert funds out of the county road fund without penalty. If counties over 8,000 in population, divert road funds for general government purposes, they are ineligible to apply for Rural Arterial Program funds. Counties need flexibility to manage existing fund sources to manage competing budget priorities at the local level.

************

Transportation

Both committees held work sessions on the various planning efforts at the local and state level and how they role up to a state wide plan.

House Republicans

Transportation Reform

The House Republicans introduced their transportation reform package "Five for Five"; the five reforms would be linked to a one cent increase in the gas tax per reform.

1. Permit streamlining-allowing DOT to self permit, subject to audit. They would also exempt projects of statewide significance from local permits.
2. Require the DOT secretary to report on contracting out and what programs which might be better performed by other parties.
3. Removing the barriers to privatize the passenger only ferries.
4. Conducting performance audits of DOT every 4 years by the LTC.
5. Common sense prevailing wage changes-apply to projects over $250,000 and other changes.

New Bills this week

SB 5239/HB1114-Clarifying the boundaries of school or playground zones

SB 5248-Achieving transportation workforce efficiencies this is the same bill that passed last year that was tied to the passage of R-51.

SB 5279 extending the date of the Transportation Permit Efficiency and Accountability committee

SB 5344 designating SR 9 that runs from SR 522 to the border a highway of statewide significance

Hearings next week

House Transportation-Requiring gravel trucks to be covered

Senate Transportation 1/29/03 - SB 5247, authorizing a local option fuel tax
Hydraulics Program, Department of Fish and Wildlife Under Attack

For decades the Department of Fisheries, and now the Department of Fish and Wildlife (DFW), has required that persons seeking to work in waters of the state first obtain a hydraulics permit. This apply to seawalls, bridges, culverts, and many other public and private activities.

The Department has come under steadily increasing criticism for its implementation of the program from the fisheries community, the development community, and private property owners. Salmon advocates for decades have criticized the Department for inadequate review, conditioning and enforcement. As new environmental regulations such as SEPA, Shoreline Management, critical areas and ESA have been implemented, there has been increasing pressure to reduce overlap of the HPA program with these other statutes.

The debate has reached a new level with DFW efforts to use the Hydraulics Code to require removal or modification of floodgates in the Skagit Valley, DFW advocacy on critical areas regulations, and efforts to streamline the state regulatory process.

Senator Mary Margaret Haugen (D-Island County) has introduced several bills to address these issues. SB 5280 repeal the HPA law. SB 5350 would allow the Governor to appoint the Director of DFW. She has introduced several other bills more narrowly target tidegates and agricultural practices in the shoreline area. Similar measures are expected to be dropped in the House soon.

With the focus of Senate Republicans on regulatory reform to improve Washington’s business climate, and legislative efforts to reduce the size of government to balance the budget, there are real possibilities that long-time state programs – such as the hydraulics program – may shrink or disappear. The mood in Olympia is different in 2003.

Pace Picks Up on Water Legislation

The Water Subcommittee of the Senate Natural Resources, Energy and Water Committee will continue to hold hearings on water resources bills the week of January 27. Expect to see water bills begin to move from the Senate Committee in the coming week.

The Senate Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee will begin to hold hearings on water legislation starting on January 29 with the Governor’s water package. His five bills address watershed planning, municipal water rights, groundwater withdrawals and trust water rights. Expect these issues, as always, to remain in play until the final days of the legislative session.

Land Use

The Senate Land Use committee held a work session on the Shoreline Management Act settlement agreement. The parties to the agreement walked the committee through the history and the substance of the agreement. The cities, ports and WSAC expressed concerns about time and money to update the shoreline master programs. The ports also expressed concerns about how the recent decision by the Central Puget Sound Growth Management Hearing board on the city of Everett's shoreline master program. This is the first shoreline master program appeal that has been heard by a hearings board. The Senate Land Use committee will be holding a work session on this decision and the implications to critical area ordinance updates and best available science.

The committee also held a work session on the costs of local governments to comply with the Growth Management Act. Bob Johnson, principal planner, for Lewis County explained the costs for them to comply with the GMA and the funding they received from the state.

The House Local Government committee held hearings on water and sewer district issues and a bill to revise rules for the vesting of short plats. This bill would change the short plat vesting to five years. This would correct an old Supreme Court decision that involved Pierce County.

New Bills this week.

SB 5308-relying to growth management hearings board review of plan and regulation compliance-Mulliken
SB 5309-relying to the appointments to growth management hearings boards-Mulliken
SB 5354-relying to the deference due to cities and counties in growth management planning matters before hearings boards, and superior and appellate courts-Haugen
SB 5352-relying to agricultural conservation programs-Haugen
SB 5353-relying to agriculture and shorelines-Haugen
SB 5351-relying to state agency land use mandates-Haugen
SB 5282-relying to the elimination of the growth management hearing boards-Hargrove
HB 1112-relying to the standard of review by growth management hearing boards-Hinkle

Hearings and work sessions next week

The Senate Land Use committee will hold a work session on Monday to learn about the recent hearings board decision for the city of Everett. Skagit County will present information about their efforts with best available science.

Both the House and Senate committees will hold a hearing on the annexation coalition bills on Thursday.

The Senate will be holding hearing on several GMA related bills on Thursday also.
First Two Weeks Filled with Work Sessions and Briefings in Human Services, Juvenile Justice and Housing

The first two weeks of session have been filled with numerous work sessions and briefing in the human services, juvenile justice and housing areas. Committees as varied as House Juvenile Justice and Senate Financial Institutions, Insurance, and Housing have held meetings with intensive staff and agency briefings on subjects that will be holding their attention later this session as bills are drafted and budgets drawn up. The fiscal committees have had the first go round on the Governor’s budget as well as the deficit in the Health Services Account and in the House have held the first public hearing to hear from the many human services advocates sorely distressed by the contents of Gov. Locke’s budget. Many of the stakeholder advocates spoke to their particular areas of concern while WSAC testified to the overall impact to local government of over $400 million in impacts to the local community that counties will have to deal with in one way or another either in our jails or emergency systems or local food or shelter programs. WSAC briefly discussed the Tri-Association package as one possible solution to our concerns, the need for more tools in the tool kit such as reducing state program parameters, enacting a long list of recommended efficiencies, providing liability reforms, and additional revenue options.

In the policy committees, there have been presentations on areas as varied as housing, age of consent for involuntary treatment of youth with chemical dependency or mental illness, Workfirst, the overall DSHS budget, the recent DSHS Facing the Future forum and Secretary Braddock’s Medicaid Integration Project, siting of secure community transition facilities, and developmental disabilities. Two work sessions in particular involved county representatives. The House Children and Family Services Committee held a session on systems of care. Clark County and King County made presentations that were very well-received by the Committee and interest in seeing these pilots go statewide. The House Criminal Justice and Corrections Committee held a work session on Housing for High Risk Offenders: A Partnership for Community Safety which included RSN representatives (Fran Lewis and Dave Stewart from Pierce County), and local law enforcement (King County Sheriff) as well as the state Department of Corrections and many other key stakeholders. This group is successfully building a community partnership to house level three sex offenders and dangerous mentally ill offenders keeping their whereabouts known and getting them engaged in safe activities.

By the end of the second week a few bills were beginning to be heard, but the unique circumstances of this session indicate that the committees are taking the time to examine a number of issues in depth which is welcome to many of us formerly content with 2 – 3 minutes of hurried testimony on complex subjects.

Secure Community Transition Facilities: They’re Back!

At this writing, 10 bills have been introduced regarding the siting of secure community transition facilities (SCTFs). This flurry of energy has been engendered by the activities taken by DSHS to site the next SCTF in King County. King County was preempted by the state when they failed to update their comprehensive plans and development regs to deal with essential public facilities including SCTFs by October 1, 2002. They have the largest number of offenders in the Special Commitment Center and so have been selected by DSHS as the next county to site a facility to house up to 12 offenders. A number of public hearings have been held as required in locations near the selected sites and several remain to be held. Rumor has it that over 1000 attended the meeting January 22 held in Burien which is near the south Seattle site.

Both remaining sites are in residential areas and in response a number of bills have been introduced that would prohibit sitting in anything but industrial areas. The third site which was removed from the list because of a school bus stop also was near two youth camps and several bills have been introduced that prohibit a SCTF from being located near campgrounds or youth camps. There have also been bills that would repeal the pre-emption of local government retroactively, prohibit siting anywhere where a child is home-schooled, require referrals of those who were criminally insane and regained competency to local prosecutors for hearings on whether they should be re-committed as sexually violent predators, and enhancements to the required transportation plans whenever a resident leaves an SCTF. WSAC has not taken a formal position on any of these bills and will present them to the Legislative Steering Committee on January 31.

If anyone is interested in a specific bill or the bill numbers, please contact Jean Wessman, WSAC staff.

Age of Consent Bill Heard in House Juvenile Justice

House Juvenile Justice and Family Law heard a proposed substitute bill, HB 1070, regarding raising the age of consent for youth treatment from 13 to 16 on January 23. The testimony was pretty evenly split between proponents and opponents of the bill. Dr. Charles Huffine, King County RSN, eloquently delivered King County’s opposition to the bill which is essentially the same for all the RSNs. The bill has been slightly improved in the proposed substitute. All reference to chemical dependency both outpatient and inpatient has been eliminated. Mental health outpatient treatment has also been eliminated from the bill. There are two remaining sections dealing with raising the age of consent – mental health inpatient going from 13 to 16 and the parent-initiated treatment option which would be limited to those ages 16 and older. There is also a limited immunity section for providers included and an odd little section that excludes all social workers even those qualified as psychiatric social workers from being authorized to determine whether the youth has a mental disorder.

Chair Mary Lou Dickerson indicated they were going to pass a bill out of committee but were still fine-tuning the proposal. County Mental Health Coordinators and RSN Administrators should contact their legislators regarding their concerns about raising the age of consent as it has a very good chance of passage if it gets out of the House.

Please Mark Your Calendars – A conference, “Promising Practices for Reducing Disproportionate Minority Confinement of Juveniles” will be held on Thursday, April 3, 2003 at the DoubleTree Hotel, SeaTac. For more details please see attachment # 2.
Rural Development Council Seeks New County Representative

A partnership of various groups and interests from across the state that coordinates and leverages resources to address the unique development problems in small communities and rural areas seeks a new county representative. The Washington Rural Development Council (RDC) will choose a new county member from names provided by WSAC to replace former Pend Oreille County Commissioner Joel Jacobsen.

The RDC is a private non-profit and the board includes state agencies, federal agencies, local government, county government, non profits and private (education, environment, business, economic development, natural resources, labor, tribal, agriculture and health). The board meets 4 times a year (two of those are by conference call) the two meetings they meet in person are held; one in Olympia area in January and one in a smaller community in Washington in July.

The mission statement is: "To improve the delivery and accessibility of public and private resources to help rural communities meet their needs"

The goals established to accomplish that mission are to:
- Inform legislators, the governor's office, state agencies, and federal agencies about the rural perspective on community and economic development issues;
- Identify, and in some cases develop, recommended improvements to existing resource delivery systems; and
- Serve as a liaison or intermediary between rural communities and public and private resource providers.

To learn more about the Council and its activities, connect with its website: http://www.yo-partner.com/Yo-PartnerWebUIProjects_WebUI/PublicArea/En-Us/RuralDevelopment/home.aspx

Those WSAC members interested in serving as the county representative to the RDC should contact Paul Parker at WSAC by February 6, 2003.

Elections, Recording and Licensing

SB 5153 requires county commissioners be elected by district.

Last year Clark County had a charter election that the voters rejected. However, the ballot asked the voters first if they approved of the charter and they were asked if they approved of various sections of the charter. One section was the election of county commissioners by district rather than countywide. This was the only section of the charter approved by the voters. Senator Benton, a Clark County Legislator, has now introduced a bill to implement this one piece of the charter into state law.

WSAC has historically opposed this legislation on the grounds that if the voters want to change their form of government they can use the freeholder process. Further, in the last debate before the Legislative Steering Committee the members felt that they wanted to represent all citizens of the county rather than just a district. This bill will be presented to the Legislative Steering Committee next week.

SB 5185, to require public discussion on every agenda item and limit all meetings be held inside county boundaries.

This bill was introduced by Senator Benton, Clark County. This issue has been before the Legislature in past sessions and has generally died in committee. It would require that the agenda of any public agency be posted 72 hours before a regular meeting and 24 hours before a special meeting. Each item must be specified in 20 words or less. Fifteen minutes must be allotted for public comment for each agenda item and each speaker is allotted three minutes to speak. The agenda shall indicate if final action is to be taken on an agenda item. All meetings must be held within the boundaries of the territory of the public agency.

This bill proposes to micro-manage how a local government sets their agenda and how they must conduct a meeting. Current law provides for full public disclosure and a process for public involvement in the decisions of public agencies. Further, public agencies may now hold meetings outside their boundaries and several governments have retreated outside their jurisdictions. Passage of this bill could raise questions of a majority of a legislative body attending meetings of associations, the legislature or other groups that may want to speak to a legislative authority outside their territory.

The Legislative Steering Committee will discuss this bill at their next meeting, January 31, in Olympia.

Auditors Legislative Mini-Conference

The County Auditors’ legislative mini-conference will be held in Olympia, on Wednesday and Thursday, January 29 and 30, at the Washington Counties Building, in Olympia. They will start at 8:30 on Monday by reviewing the Auditors’ legislative package and other bills that have been introduced by the legislature which have an impact on auditors. Secretary of State Sam Reed will be on hand to review all of his proposed legislation, and following lunch auditors will be going up on the hill to meet with legislators. There will be a no-host reception at The Prime Connection, at 5:30 p.m. On Thursday morning at 7:00 a.m., legislators have been invited to breakfast with the auditors at The Mason Jar. Following that, we will reconvene back at the Washington Counties Building to talk about the legislative contacts and adjourn at 11:30 a.m.

HB 1155, Authorizing a pilot project for military and overseas voters to vote via the Internet, was heard by the House State Government Committee on Tuesday. The bill is a Secretary of State request and Sam Reed and Dean Logan testified in favor of the bill. Secretary Reed stated that the Department of Defense would run the program and be solely responsible for security, secrecy and validation of votes. HB 1155 is on the schedule for executive session on Friday, January 31.

Senator Dave Schmidt has introduced the following bills: SB 5397, Determining the order of candidates on ballots (language similar to Rep. Hatfield’s HB 1093); SB 5398, simplifying procedures for selection of precinct committee officers; and SB 5399, revising absentee and mail ballot procedures.

Senator Roach has introduced a bill relating to absentee ballots, SB 5443. The bill changes all references to information on absentee “return” envelopes to the “security” envelope. On Tuesday, January 28, at 1:30 p.m., the (Continued on page 8)
Elections, Recording and Licensing

House State Government will hear the following Secretary of State bills: HB 1152, revising funding of the archives division; HB 1156, requiring timely mailing of ballots; HB 1157, regulating actions on the validity of ballot measures; HB 1158, enhancing voting systems certification; HB 1159, reorganizing election laws; HB 1160, harmonizing election crimes and penalties; HB 1161, administering funds received under the Help America Vote Act; and HMJ 4006, proposing a regional presidential primary.

Also on Tuesday, January 28, at 1:30 p.m., the Senate Governmental Operations and Elections Committee will hold a hearing on SB 5063, providing for elections for flood control zone district supervisors.

Licensing

The hearing on HB 1036, modifying subagent authority to process mail-in vehicle registration renewals that was scheduled for Wednesday, January 22 was cancelled and has been rescheduled for Monday, January 27 at 3:30 p.m. in House Transportation Committee in House Hearing Room B in the John L. O'Brien Building. Companion bill, SB 5246 is scheduled for a hearing in Senate Highways & Transportation Committee on Wednesday, January 29 at 3:30 p.m. in Senate Hearing Room 1 in the J.A. Cherberg Building.

Recording

HB 1081 which creates a surcharge of two dollars to be charged by the county auditor at the time of recording of each residential first mortgage deed of trust, was heard Wednesday in House Financial Institutions & Insurance Committee.

WSACA President, Vern Spatz testified before the committee voicing concerns about the additional burden that would be created because the bill would require staff to make a determination as to whether a Deed of Trust is a first residential mortgage. The committee seemed to be amenable to changing the language by dropping the reference to “first.” Vern also voiced concern for the way the recording fee has become a “Christmas tree” of surcharges to generate revenue for special interests rather than a true “user fee” for the recording of a document. Vern explained in detail the actual cost of recording a document, and stated that of the $19 it costs to record the first page of a standard document only $5 is retained by the county.

Also testifying before the committee was Mason County Chief Deputy Auditor Karen Herr. Karen did an excellent job of testifying and brought concerns to the committee about the amount of time it would take the staff to determine whether the Deed of Trust was a first residential mortgage and apply the charge accordingly. Also of concern was trying to determine whether the Deed of Trust was residential or commercial. Currently, there is no indication whether a Deed of Trust is residential or commercial. Karen also discussed the difficulty in notifying the numerous out-of-state financial institutions of the correct fee when recording their Deed of Trust by mail.

Overall, the testimony offered by Vern and Karen was well received by the committee. Representative Brad Benson came to the back of the room to thank Vern for bringing the auditors’ concerns to the committee’s attention and asked for continued cooperation from the county auditors.

Also at the hearing were Mason County Auditor Al Brotche and Thurston County Chief Deputy Auditor BG Sandahl.

Although the State of Washington Department of Financial Institutions is supportive of this bill, the Washington Association of Mortgage Brokers seems to be the driving force behind the bill.

Companion bill, SB 5118 has not been scheduled for a hearing.

General Government and Miscellaneous

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT: Governor Seeks an EDGE for Economic Development

Legislation to expand upon the existing tax increment finance authority of counties, cities, and ports is scheduled for public hearing in the House Trade and Economic Development Committee on January 28 at 1:30 p.m. This Governor-request legislation, known as “Economic Development for a Growing Economy” (EDGE) has been introduced as HB 1281 by Representative Eric Pettigrew (D-King County).

HB 1281 adds a sales tax credit opportunity to the existing property tax-based tax increment finance mechanism as an additional revenue stream to bond infrastructure improvements for economic development. The proposal is supported by a broad coalition of cities, businesses, ports, and economic development agencies.

Death Investigations

HB 1223, County coroner jurisdiction, was introduced this week by Representative Mary Lou Dickerson and will be heard next Wednesday morning, January 29, at 8:00 a.m. in the House Children and Family Services. HB 1223 says two things: the county coroner has jurisdiction “where the deceased is a minor” and that the Department of Social and Health Services may examine and obtain copies of reports and records of autopsies or post mortems “in cases involving the death of any minor,” thus exempting DSHS from the confidentiality provision for such reports. The coroners and medical examiners who have commented to date have asserted that they already have that jurisdiction and question why DSHS should have an interest unless it is a case of abuse or neglect. A concern was also expressed about the tremendous workload this would create in the largest counties.

Kitsap County Coroner Greg Sandstrom met with Representative Dickerson in November on this issue and was instrumental in surveying the coroners, medical examiners and prosecutor coroners to determine their view of this issue. Copies of the survey results are available by calling WACO or dwilke@wacounties.org. Your comments on HB 1223 are welcome as well.

Mason County Hits on Cost-Saving Innovation for Right-of-Way Acquisition
Negotiating for right of way can be very much like herding cats, especially when you’re dealing with hundreds of small parcels. In preparation for constructing a 3.5-mile widening project along Grapeview Loop Road, Mason County faced the challenge of negotiating purchase of 131 small right-of-way parcels. The cost for negotiating so many small parcels was of great concern to the County. In most cases, the cost of negotiating and purchasing the properties would be greater than the cost of the land itself. The time required to complete so many purchases was also of concern. Lacking the personnel to complete the work in a timely manner, the County advertised for a consultant and selected Skillings-Connolly, Inc. of Lacey because of their familiarity with the project and their creative proposal regarding how to acquire the right-of-way. At the consultant’s suggestion, the County elected to make a blanket offer of $2,500 for each parcel to all property owners who were willing to transfer title without negotiations, appraisal or any effort on the County’s part beyond the preparation of the appropriate transfer documents. The County selected this figure based on their experience that fees just for the consultant to negotiate each individual parcel would average about $2,500, regardless of how small the parcels were. A letter explaining the offer was mailed out to property owners, followed quickly by a public meeting. The property owners were given three weeks to take advantage of the offer. After that time the offer would expire. Any remaining properties would be acquired by negotiation, but only fair market value would be paid. By the time the offer expired, 94 parcels had been acquired – far more than the County has ever acquired in a three-week period before.
The benefits of this approach were three-fold:
1. All of the 94 property owners who accepted the offer expressed satisfaction with the deal they got.
2. Although in most cases the County paid property owners more for the land than it would have appraised for, the total cost to taxpayers was still less than it would have been otherwise because the process greatly reduced consultant fees and administrative costs.
3. With 94 parcels acquired in the first month, and only 37 remaining to be negotiated in the more traditional fashion, it is expected that the acquisition process will be complete well ahead of schedule.
“ This method of right-of-way acquisition would not work as well everywhere,” according to Mason County Public Works Director Jerry Hauth. “But, when the value of the land is less than (or not much higher than) the cost of the effort to buy it, this technique warrants consideration.”
